

It is my understanding that under the current laws radio and TV stations are allowed to call me and ask me to listen to or watch a particular station are permitted.

This is silly.

These companies are selling me a product - the difference is it costs me time instead of money. Even if I decline, it's still an annoyance. I get calls all the time asking me if I watched a TV show or listened to a radio station, and if not, would I and give feedback?

This needs to stop. My name is on the list. No means no! I don't care who you are - if you're asking me to do something for you or buy something from you, don't dial my number!
